116 With F.M.L.

I know a young guy, blond haired and sinewy, tall and vicious with a tennis racket, who drew a picture on the wall in the mailing department of this newspaper.

He sketched Herald circulation man James Barrett as "Super Hoot," a heavyset "superman" with a tennis racket in his hand. And the sketch is the kind that makes Barrett laugh at himself while the mailroom crew, some more tennis players among 'em, look at the picture and think about the young artist's imagination, which is aplenty.

This guy, who loves to melt tennis balls with a heavy backhand, is having a heavy match in Houston these days. And he can't get to his weights and to his tennis racket, and it's a hell of a thing for a young guy of 16 to go through.

But he's not the first, and he knows it, and he's not the last, and he knows it, and he's gonna show himself and a bunch of tennis players here the stuff he's got. . .

He's gonna be mad when he reads this, because he can't draw a cartoon of the guy who wrote it. And young Clay Kruse, high pitched and talented, is gonna get even in a few weeks when he comes back to The Herald's mailing room and draws FML in effigy.

We're both just that mean.

By the way, I've tried heck and darn when the opposites of these euphemisms just seem to fit, and heck and darn just fail "to make the cut" as golfers say of those who don't make the tournament field.

By the standards of modern movie dialogue, this is Sunday School stuff.

My grandfather on the father's side usually avoided the conflict by slipping into Deutsch when his temper flared. It fooled no one, least of all me, even at 4, when the expletives ripped from his throat in honest indignation, usually at a grandson who just tossed a tricycle down the cellar stairs, just after, of course, the elder had put it back together.

This writer is stuck with his memory, which is considerable, and I won't take for the openness I remember of that day, and among a few of this, not tokenism, but the fervor of love and hate of the moment, not violent, but real, honest if you will, escaping any mask so common in the 70s.

I wear that mask at times, in self defense I suppose, because involvement is beautiful or it is painful. It is hardly indifferent among the living.

I've been unloaded upon quite a number of times, and there is a certain cleansing connected with a burst of temper. Some people can make fury a deadly weapon. And yet be loved for it.

I am not one of these, I am sure. My German is quite limited, as it should be in disuse, but the memory of times when L little else would suffice is there, and it feeds a weakness in these fingers to puncutate an emotion just a little.

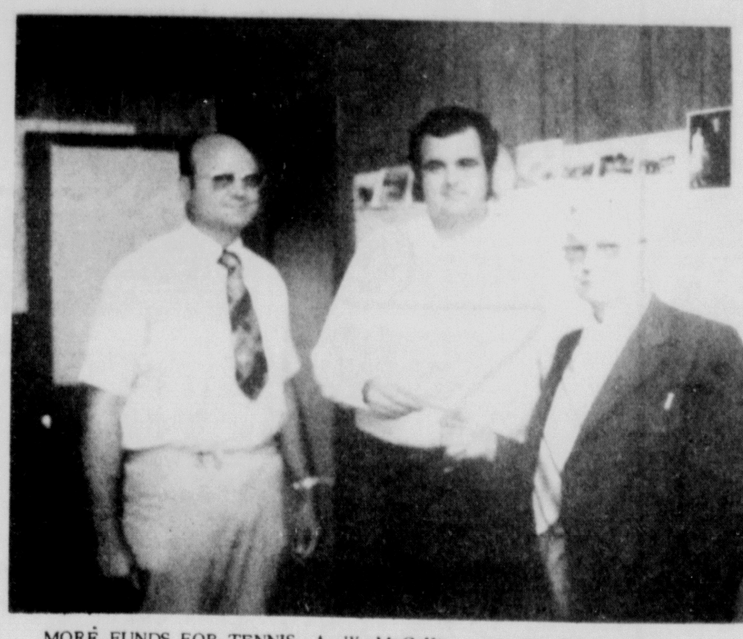
It is, of course, the fault of this typewriter.

Money Rolls In For Good Causes



MORE FUNDS FOR TENNIS--A. W. McCullin, executive director of the Community Development Agency, is shown at right accepting a check for $1,600 from Rod Holcombe, center, and Buddy Dulin, left. The funds will be used in the construction of four new tennis courts to be built at the north end of City Park.

Festival Set On Mall

By Chris Holcombe

Fair exhibits, pet shows, carnival booths, barbecue and sausage sandwiches, and a street dance will all go in to making a Bicentennial Happening. The date is Saturday, August 2, on the downtown mall in Cameron with starting time of 1 p.m.

Special attractions open to everyone are the parts and tools identification contest, open to youths under 19, and the open pet show, also open to any youth under 19. You do not have to be in 4-H to participate. All other categories are for 4-H members only.

Activities will kickoff at 1 p.m. with the opening of the 4-H Project Fair. All exhibits must be at the show grounds by 1:30 p.m. and judging will start at 2.

Categories will include baked foods--including cakes of all kinds, cookies, pies, biscuits, yeast rolls, yeast breads, quick breads, candy and miscellaneous. Other exhibits will include canned foods, home environment category, clothing, arts and crafts, woodworking, electricity, horticulture, field crops, gun safety, welding and soldering, pet department, photography, entomology, and rock collections.

There will be two pet shows. The 4-H pet show will open at 1 p.m. with judging beginning at 2 p.m. Registration for the open pet show will begin at 3 p.m. and judging will start at 3:30. A fifty cent entry fee will be charged for the open pet show.

The open pet show will contain categories for cats, dogs, and miscellaneous small animals. Every entry will receive a ribbon. All dogs must be on a leash and all cats must be in cages.

About 4 p.m. carnival type booths will begin opening up. These will include game type booths, baked goods, and arts and crafts. Any organization or individual wishing to have a booth, please contact the Milam County Extension Office at 697-3392 or Box 708 Cameron. The cost of booth space will be $5. If you are interested or have any questions, please contact the office. The more booths, the merrier.

At 5 p.m. the Milam County 4-H Council will begin serving barbecue sandwiches, sausage sandwiches, and iced tea. The barbecue sandwiches will sell for $1 each and sausage sandwiches for 60-cents. Iced tea will be 15-cents. Rudy Mikeska's Bar-B-Que will do the barbecuing.

Activities will close up with a street dance beginning at 7:30 p.m. and will be open for all. Music will be furnished by the Rhine Steins of Cameron.

Kubiak Tells School Districts To Protest Tax

Rep. Dan kubiak is advising area school districts to protest the new school finance law if it overestimates school district property values and causes unfair increases in local property taxes.

In letters to school superintendents in Falls, Milam, and Williamson Counties, Kubiak says the amount of tax money a school district must raise is based largely on a private firm's estimate of district property values. The estimates are too high in many cases, Kubiak says, especially in rural areas or in smaller cities.

"When the property value figure is higher than the property's real worth, local tax payers are forced to pay more than their fair share," Kubiak said. "If the property values in the new education bill are inaccurate for any district in our area, a protest should be filed with the State Board of Education."

More than 100 school districts around the state have already asked the board to adjust property values downward, Kubiak said.

"I am not certain the values are wrong for any school in our area, but the possibility is certainly worth checking out," Kubiak said. "No school district should be taxed beyond the actual value of its taxable property."

Kubiak said a major flaw in the new education statute is its continued reliance on local property taxes to raise education funds.

Oil Production Has Impact On County

The production of crude oil and natural gas in 1974 continued to have a significant impact on the economy of Milam County, with the estimated value of the county's production, royalty payments, and state severance taxes reaching new highs.

Milam was one of 197 counties--an increase of four from 1973--which produced oil and gas valued in excess of $100,000 in a year which saw the total value of state production jump from just over $6.7 billion to almost $11.4 billion.

The county ranked 177th in the state in the total value of petroleum produced--$1,144,373--with $1,140-622 of that coming from the sale of 162,946 barrels of crude oil; $3,571 from the sale of 12,890 MCF of natural gas.

This study by the Texas Mid-Continent Oil & Gas Association shows also that the county's petroleum production last year resulted in the payment of $143,000 to royalty owners.

"These figures, whether considered statewide or individually in almost 80 percent of Texas' 254 counties, emphasize the importance of a healthy petroleum industry in the nation's No. 1 energy state," said Sherman Hunt, a Dallas independent oil man who is president of Texas Mid-Continent.

"In the face of declining production in Texas, it is significant that this increased return to royalty owners and producers came from crude oil and natural gas which is free from restrictive federal price controls. But there are at this time proposals in Congress which would place all of Texas' petroleum production under federal price controls, with predictable disastrous consequences for the industry, as well as the whole economy of the state," Hunt said.

The survey also shows that the State of Texas received $52,750 in production taxes from county wells, with $52,469 coming from crude oil output and $281 from natural gas production.

Oil and gas developers and producers spent an estimated $942,000 drilling 21 wells in the county last year, with 50.6 percent of that figure lost in 10 dry holes. The total drilling yielded 11 oil wells. The exploratory effort in the county included the drilling of seven wildcat wells seeking new oil and gas fields.

According to the Texas Employment Commission, 150 oil and gas industry employes worked in the county in 1974 and shared a payroll totaling $675,000.

Argument Ends In Shooting, Man Charged

A Cameron man remains in satisfactory condition in Scott & White Memorial Hospital in Temple after being wounded at about midnight Sunday during an argument in a local lounge, a hospital spokesman said.

The victim was identified as Larry Westbrook, 18, of 1513 W. 8 St., Cameron. A Milam County Sheriff's office spokesman said Westbrook was shot once in the chest with an automatic pistol during an apparent argument.

Mitchell was released from county jail on $3,000 bond.

City To Consult Experts On Street Paving

Members of the city street committee and the planning commission street committee will seek advice from a firm of city consultants and engineers to see what can be done toward a paving program for Cameron.

Decision to seek the advice came at a joint meeting of the two committees Monday evening. Committee members will meet with Cason and Associates of Waco later on this month.

Any paving program that develops will be aired at the town hall meeting later on, according to A. W. McCullin of the Community Development Agency, in whose office the committee meeting was held.

McCullin said the group agreed there is a serious problem with city streets and something needs to be done. The city also has drainage problems along with some of the streets that need paving.

A number of finance plans were discussed, including volunteer assessment, direct assessment, a charge made for paving and maintenance, and a charge on water bills, among others.

The group agreed that the city does need a planned street program, and plans to look at all angles before submitting the program to the citizens at a town meeting.

False Alarm Sounds

Volunteer firemen were called to Newton Memorial Hospital at 1:15 a.m. Friday when the automatic fire alarm system went on by accident. There was no fire at the hospital.

Work Starts On Pioneer Cemetery

A touching story has been told by Miss Lalla Meyers, who is one of a few who are spearheading efforts to get the old Pioneer Cemetery cleaned up.

Miss Meyers said she was visiting a friend of hers in a local nursing home and the friend handed her a dollar for the cemetery fund. "I want to have my name in the pot," she explained to Miss Meyers.

Another woman also donated a dollar, Miss Meyers said. She added that no contribution is too small to go in the cemetery fund, which has reached $500, reflecting much interest in the project.

More than $500 will be needed, however, if the place is to be fenced properly, and repairs made to graves in the old cemetery. Some of the old graves must be filled in and repairs must be made on broken tombstones.

Cleaning up brush in the spot has been coming along, and weeds are being cleared in part of the cemetery. An effort is being made to see if the cemetery belongs to the city, in order to get regular maintenance.

Miss Meyers said, "Our first citizens are buried there and we shouldn't neglect them. If we don't get it done in this generation, we won't get it done at all."

Bobby Scott, who has been doing some of the clearing work in the cemetery, discovered additional graves which were hidden from sight by brush and tangled weeds.

One was for "N. C. Wife of Maj. J. C. Rogers, born in 1833 died in 1866." Another names "Thomas Smith, son of H. M. Smith, born August 17, 1886, died Nov. 30, 1896."

The cemetery is the resting place for many Arnolds, another of which was found in the weeds. It was simply carved--"D. D. Arnold, Co. F., 8th Texas Infantry, C.S.A." An early day physician was also laid to rest here. He was "Dr. J. P. Beauchamp, born in Boling Green, Ky. Jan 22, 1827, died in Cameron Jan. 25, 1868."

The old cemetery is located outside the city limits on the town side of Little River Bridge on Highway 36.

Contributions to the Pioneer Cemetery Fund may be made at Citizens National Bank.

RUSSIANS VISIT--Bill Harris, center, makes a point to Russian scientists during the recent visit to Elm Creek Dairy. The scientists were on a fact-finding tour as part of an American-Soviet exchange program for agricultrual scientists. They were most interested in Harris' management of Elm Creek Dairy with such a small labor force and efficient cow handling system. The Russians presented the Harris' a beautiful book containing a color picture tour of the Soviet Union in appreciation for their hospitality.

A Great Job....

The two Cameron Lions Clubs are presenting $1,600 each for the new city tennis courts now under construction. And Knights of Columbus has donated $200.

This goes with revenue sharing funds from the City of Cameron for the four-court, lighted complex. The local tennis club will finish with sealing coats of red and green and white lines.

And something new, a Little League tennis system will be introduced like those proposed in Bryan, Temple, Austin, and around the state.

It all spells better tennis. One court is surfaced at OJ Thomas School for multi-purpose use, including tennis, and basketball. A civic club may furnish night lights for it if enough money remains.

We encourage the Community Development Association to review the possibilities of multi-purpose courts at least in the new West Cameron Park so enough courts will continue to emege for the resounding tennis program.

It all started about four years ago with a summer clinic, a mid-school tennis program, a tennis club, a turndown by the CISD majority and recognition of the sport's value by city, civic clubs, and tennis buffs.

A great job. A great job.

Crime Up 18 Percent...

The crime rate in this country was up 18 percent over the first quarter of 1974, but this is not likely in Cameron and Milam County.

We have seen two incidents in recent weeks which spell the kind of alertness which curbs crime, even the suggestion of it.

One incident involving a man with a knife in Southwest Cameron brought out about a half dozen lawmen, including CPD officers, police auxiliary, highway patrolmen, and sheriff's department. The man was in custody in short time thereafter, slightly cut victim treated, the man himself in hospital.

The other incident proved to be a false alarm. Someone called local police of reportedly an "attempt to rob" one of the local banks, none identified. Officers at the ready with shotgun at hand cruised the downtown area. A false alarm was best a false alarm for somebody.

The 18 percent national increase, of course, includes all seven major categories of crime with robbery up 28 percent. . .

Major metro areas, even smaller ones like Waco have a crime problem of new dimension.

Cameron is fortunate thus far in having the response when it is needed to meet the problem.

"Low Down" FROM THE Congressional Record

By JOE CRUMP

FHA'S $4 BILLION HOUSING DISASTER

Senator Charles H. Percy (Ill.)". . .I commend George Bliss, Chuck Neubauer, and The Chicago Tribune for the fine series "FHA, America's Slumlord," the series by far the most well-researched and well-documented of the literally dozens of investigative reports on fraud and mismanagement in FHA's low-income homeownership programs which have appeared in cities across the Nation over the last 5 years. . ." (Excerpts from the docmented report follow):

Good intentions led to programs in which scandal took root and grew.

In 1968 Congress hurriedly passed the National Housing Act in response to unrest and rioting in major cities. The bill was designed to provide low cost and easy terms for low-and moderate-income families.

It soon became apparent to many mortgage companies and real estate dealers that they could make more money faster by selling homes to families that were not only poor but poor risks--unemployed persons who could afford only the first payments and were certain to default. Once they foreclose for failing to meet payments, the mortgage companies collect full value for the houses after a year from FHA.

Zion Mayor W. Bruce watched the federal housing program move into his town and construct a "new slum" in a community that never had one before.

George Conner lives in the 7300 block of South Hoyne Avenue (Chicago). "These used to be nice houses," he said. "When the house at 7333 burned, it almost set my house on fire. The firemen told us to move our kids because the whole next-door roof was in flames." The seven abandoned homes on the block are now beyond repair and Conner and his neighbors live in constant fear that their children will get hurt or their homes will go up in flames.

Fred Pfaender, HUD director of loan management in Washington, insisted his agency has only a limited staff and HUD's job is to make loans, not police the mortgage companies, he said.

So the hidden disaster continues to churn across the neighborhoods throughout the nation , and the government continues to buy up the damaged and destroyed houses in its wake.

CRUMP'S GRASS ROOTS COMMENT

Fighting arson fires in vacant houses have become a way of life for firefighters who work out of Engine Houses located in areas where FHA has paid off defaulted mortgages. The vacant houses stand exposed to arsonists who strip them of everything of value. Few of these fires are extinguished without injuries to the firefighters who also, must avoid arsonist-set booby traps.

OLD PHILOSOPHER

Dear editor:

For some time now I've been studying the part of the lie in national and world affairs and the way it looks to me, lying has just about been ruined.

It used to be that one of the worst things you could call a man was a liar, but nowadays let one politician call another a liar and people just shrug; so what, they're probably both right.

You read a headline: Editor Harold Smith Denies CIA Role, and people's reaction is, You know he's guilty.

Admit something is true about what you're accused of and people will say, "Yeah, he's just admitting that to cover up something he's done that's worse."

Nothing seems to work anymore. Not even No Comment. Ask a politician a sharp question and if he says "No comment," people say, "Ah-hah, he's guilty as sin." If he says, "I neither deny nor confirm it," people say he's just confirmed it.

It has got to the point where if somebody accuses you of something, the best thing to do is get out of sight. If you hang around to deny it, you're a goner. No use issuing a statement through your campaign manager. He's already under indictment for accepting illegal contributions to your last campaign.

Understand, this isn't just a national condition. Lying has become such a habit among the world leaders that a nation caught telling the truth will be accused of just trying to befuddle the others. "What're they up to this time?" the others will say. "Something's going on there we don't understand. Better have our undercover people look into it."

In other words, lying as an instrument of personal, national, and international policy has been ruined. It's like sleeping pills . The more you take the more you need, till finally nothing works.

You think I'm telling the truth? No comment.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

White Rallies Opposition To Rights Act

Extension of the federal Voting Rights Act, expected to be approved soon by the U. S. Senate, will have a dramatic impact on states, cities and counties, warns Texas Secretary of State Mark White Jr.

White is waging a kind of crusade to alert Texas officials and news media representatives what to expect and trying to rally last-ditch opposition.

The act, White emphasizes, would mean far more than federally-monitored voter registration and election procedures.

It would also require that every change in state voting laws, all legislative and local boundary line redistricting and even municipal annexations affecting voting precinct makeup would have to be approved by the U. S. attorney general.

White says Texas has done everything called for in the federal bill to protect voting rights — including passage of a law requiring bilingual ballots and registration materials.

However, the state still would be brought under the act, due to a retroactive provision. That section applies the law to states where fewer than 50 per cent of voting-age adults were registered in 1972 or voted in the last presidential election.

White insists there is no substantial evidence of voting rights violations in Texas, and that applying punitive provisions of the act to the state is an injustice, "a fraud and an insult."

Impeachment Launched

The first impeachment action in 44 years was launched in the House—against 229th District Judge O. P. Carrillo of Duval County.

A select committee unanimously approved a resolution containing 11 articles of impeachment. The House will recovene August 4 at 10 a.m. to consider the resolution. If it, or any similar version, is approved, the Senate will be called into session within about a month to sit in trial of Carrillo.

The judge's Austin attorney, Arthur Mitchell, said he was notified, meanwhile, the Texas Judicial Qualifications Commission, has filed a complaint against Carrillo.

Mitchell said legal action will be taken in an effort to prevent ouster even if impeachment is voted.

AG Opinions

Atty. Gen John Hill held gas producer sales to pipelines should be counted as Texas transactions in figuring franchise taxes due the state, and Comptroller Bob Bullock predicted the decision will bring millions of dollars in new income.

In other recent opinions, Hill concluded:

Library records indentifying those who checked out books and art are not subject to disclosure under the open records act.

Courts Speak

Third Court of Civil Appeals held big corporations cannot decrease their franchise tax debt to the state by manipulation of subsidiaries. The case is expected to mean $24.4 million in additional state revenue. Texaco Inc. brought the action for return of taxes paid under protest.

Texas prosecutors were told by the Court of Criminal Appeals they cannot make a big issue when an accused person refuses to testify during trial. The Court ordered reversal of a life sentence given a Waco man for rape.

Wire Taps Checked

The Criminal Justice Division of the governor's office plans a check of city police and county sheriffs to see they aren't doing illegal electronic surveillance with equipment purchased with federal funds channeled through CJD.

LONDON

The 30th anniversary of the end of World War II has been marked by official ceremonies in some countries and debate in others. But the young English drama company has marked the occasion somewhat differently, with a controversial horror play recalling not the military victory but the human tragedy. The playis called "An Die Musik," and depicts the treatment of Jews in concentration camps.

SOMALIA

China is quietly pursuing major aid programs in Somalia, whose close links with the Soviet Union have been making international headlines in recent months. While the Soviet presence in Somalia and United States allegations that the Russians are building missile facilities at the port of Berbera have focused world-wide attention, China's aid efforts have hardly been noticed abroad.

JOHANNESBURG

One of the ironies of South Africa's racially divided society is that whites are not able to enjoy live performances of an entire new sub-culture of black African music. Known in local parlance as "black rock" or "jazz rock" this music is making piles of money for all those involved in it. There are black superstars who have gold discs to their credit andw who represent to the republic's black majority what Elton John is to Britain and America.

BANGKOK

Three months after the pro-communist Khmer Rouge came to power Cambodia remains a mystery state, pushing ahead with its austere peasant revolution in isolation from the outside world. Many of the country's seven million people have been uprooted from their homes and are working in the rice fields, digging channels and dams, repairing roads and railways, or toiling on other reconstruction projects.

County Agent Notes...

Local Pecan Tree Has Record Nutlet Cluster

Terry Hardwick, custom sprayer in the Cameron area, reported that a Choctaw tree at Mrs. Bea Foster's in Cameron had a cluster of nuts containing 11 nutlets. s That's some kind of record in my books.

The pecan crop county-wide is still looking good. Scab and other diseases are a problem as we have had a lot of humid weather and producers would do well to keep fungicides on pecans.

In addition to fungus problems, two shuckworm spray applications are due soon. The first in mid-August and the second around the first of September. Most people will be using a mixture of Guthion and either Duter or Benlate for these applications.

It would be a shame not to protect this excellent crop, and the hickory shuckworm and pecan scab are capable of destroying a pecan crop in the later stages.

Grain Sorghum Crop Late

An estimated 70,000 plus acres of grain sorghum is awaiting harvest and the weather has been uncooperative from the outset. The 1975 crop has seen two freezes, an early drought, sugarcane aphids, overflows, much wet weather, and finally sorghum midge and corn ear worms.

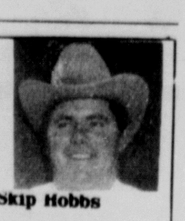
In spit e of all of this, I expect a county-wide average in the neighborhood of 3,000# per acre which is not bad. This is off the average per acre. Yields of around 3400 to 3600# the last couple of years, but those were above average grain sorghum years.

Some of the best grain sorghum in the county is on the rolling uplands that are well drained. Some of these well drained fields are going to produce the best crop ever. I have seen some that should average 5,000 pounds plus. Usually the better grain sorghum is in the bottoms but on good bottomland and good level blackland fields overflow and standing water has cut yields over 50% in many instances.

For the last couple of years harvest has started the last of June. This year's harvest will be at least a month later even though the crop was planted early. We just haven't had any drying weather with showers and high humidity prevalent all summer.

There was virtually no harvesting last week, but some grain sorghum is expected to be cut this week if the weather will stay hot and dry. It looks like we may still be harvesting grain sorghum around the first of September.

TEXAS TALK



By Skip Hobbs

Official prognostication about this year's corn crop has drawn more than a little attention by a variety of veteran agricultural observers. Officially, the United States Department of Agriculture predicts the corn crop could reach a record 6.4 billion bushels. Others are saying actual production will be less than five and half billion bushels. Whatever the case, corn production continues to be a significant hallmark in American agricultural efficiency. Just over ten years ago a bumper crop pushed production for the first time over the 4 billion bushel mark. Then farmers burst the five billion bushel bubble in 1971 and kept production at nearly five and a half billion until last year's losing round with weather. A major reason those less optimistic observes are questioning breaking the 6-billion mark this year is because of the trimming of fertilizer application which could make the needed 90 bushel per acre yield hard to meet. Only harvest time till tell.

Cotton Price Outlook Mixed

A gradual increase in cotton consumption, coupled with a decline in production this year, continues to strengthen the U. S. cotton market.

"The impact of rebounding consumption and declining production will become a very significant factor in a price recovery," said David Cox, Cotton Incorporated vice-president for economic research and development.

And with high world cotton carryover on August 1, export demand could also become a big factor in price movement, Cox said.

Cox's analysis is drawn from a survey of world cotton supply and demand conditions conduced by economists at Cotton Incorporated, the fiber company of U. S. cotton producers.

"With the economy showing signs of recovery, increased cotton use should push prices gradually upwards in the months ahead," Cox said. "However prices are likely to be tempered by the carryover on August 1, expected to be the largest in several years."

MAID OF COTTON Kathryn Tenkoff learns about one of the latest research and marketing successes of Cotton Incorporated--flame retardant "Fire Stop" cotton garments--from Hal E. Brockman, vice-president for textile research and development. She examines a 100 percent cotton firefighters uniform that has been adopted by the New York City fire department.

Tractor Rules Insure Safety

AUSTIN

Roll-over protective structures for farm tractors are on the way, and will introduce a new set of regulations in October 1976.

Joe L. Smetana, Texas Safety Association vice-president for Farm & Ranch Safety, reminds Texas farmers and ranchers, however, that some safety provisions became effective June 1, 1975.

Current safety rules cover nine employee operating instructions:

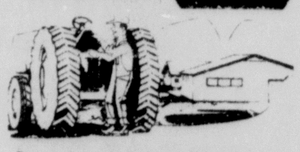
1. Securely fasten your seat belt if the tractor does have a roll-over protection structure.
2. Where possible, avoid operating tractor near ditches, embankments, and holes.
3. Reduce speed when turning, crossing slopes, and on rough, slick, or muddy surfaces.
4. Stay off slopes too steep for safe operations.
5. Watch where you are going; especially at row ends, on roads, and around trees.
6. Do not permit others to ride.
7. Hitch only to a drawbar and hitch points recommended by tractor manufacturers.
8. Operate the tractor smoothly, with no jerky turns, starts, or stops.
9. When the tractor is stopped, set brakes securely and use park lock if available.

Accidents involving tractors were among the leading cause of fatalities on Texas farms and ranches. In 1973, tractors were involved in 26 deaths. However, in 1974, tractor accidents resulted in 34 of the 285 Texas farm and ranch fatalities, according to Smetana and the Texas Safety Association.

Gov. Dolph Briscoe, in declaring July 25-31, 1975, as Texas Farm and Ranch Safety Week, encouraged "individual responsibility for alertness and safety precautions" by Texas farm and ranch residents.

SAFETY CORNER

Replace Faded Emblem



Does the center color of your SMV emblem look like a weak egg yolk? Orange fluorescent centers fade and need replacement every two to four years. Replace entire emblems with new ones or get replacement centers with pressure sensitive backing to restore brightness. Bright emblems help alert motorists.

Pesticide Control Act Passed

"Texas first agricultural pesticide control act, passed and signed into law last month, will provide farmers and ranchers the opportunity to increase their safety and that of their cattle," says Texas Safety Association vice-president, Joe L. Smetana.

The act regulates the use of pesticides, with the Texas Department of Agriculture designated as the regulating agency, and provides for voluntary education and certification for farmers and ranchers.

The Texas Pesticide Control Act brings the State into compliance with the U. S. Environmental Protection Agency's edict that all states enact such legislation by October 1976. A list of the restricted pesticides will soon be released by the Environmental Protection Agency.

The private farmer and rancher may secure a license, but is not requird to, explains TSA, as most compliance enforcement will be aimed at the commercial or non-commercial applicator and the dealer. Licensing will be required of anyone who sells restricted pesticides or applies them for hire, as will be the keeping of records.

Licensing will be through the Texas Department of Agriculture, and a license will be granted following successful examination of the applicant's knowledge of and ability to apply pesticides.

The Texas Safety Association urges all farmers, ranchers, and other pesticide users to participate in the licensing program. "It can help them understand the chemicals they are using, the correct procedures, and what the ill effects of incorrect usage or handling can be," reminds TSA's Smetana.

More Questions . . . Keep Those Samples Coming . . . Deadline Nearing . . . Good Eating.

It's crop questionnaire time again from the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service.

A total of 24,700 farmers in Texas have received a questionnaire relating primarily to small grain acres. If you are one of those who have received it, you are requested to fill it out as accurately as possible and return it promptly.

Interest continues to increase in all areas of agricultural production in the state and throughout the nation. During the era of the so-called "burdensome surpluses" there was very little interest evoked when a crop survey was made. But now the questionnaire becomes important.

Another form Texas agricultural producers need to note is the census. Although the majority of the census forms have been returned, the Census Bureau says it still needs those not yet returned.

You need to fill out only those questions applicable to your operation. And the Census Bureau says you can be assured no one will see your answers except the census enumerator.

Figures will be compiled into county, state and national totals.

SCREWWORM CASES continue to be reported in parts of Texas, and screwworm eradication officials urge livestock producers to adhere to its four-point program for eradication:

Check your livestock regularly, treat wounds on livestock with approved screwworm-control remedies, delay surgery on livestock as long as possible and submit suspected screwworm samples to the fly lab at Mission. Your county agent has vials which you can use to send the samples.

AUG. 15 may seem to be a long way off since this is still mid-July. But it will be here shortly, and the main thing to remember about Aug. 15 is that it is the deadline date for submitting your entry to the Family Land Heritage Program.

That Program honors those farm families and their descendants in Texas who have owned and continuously farmed the same piece of land for 100 years or more. If you believe you can qualify for this award, you can get an application from your county judge or by writing to the Texas Department of Agriculture, Austin, Texas 78711.

Last year, more than 560 farm families in the state were so honored. The Program, recognized to be of great historical significance, is sponsored by the Texas Department of Agriculture to honor agriculture and agricultural producers.

IF YOU LIKE ICE CREAM (and who doesn't) you'll be happy to know that ice cream production increased in 1974. Perhaps the same trend is continuing this year.

In Texas during 1974, there was enough ice cream produced to provide every person in the state just under three gallons each. If you like mellorine, and apparently most Texans do, Texas is the number one state in production of that dessert.

All this related to the fact that manufactured dairy products utilized 22 per cent of the 1974 Texas milk production.

TDA administers the state's seed certification laws.

Your town may have a general service rate above or below the average rate listed above. Rates differ in all the towns we serve, because each town has a unique gas distribution system and has different revenue requirements.

We know your gas bills have been rising steadily in the past year or two, and they'll continue to rise. The average price Lone Star has had to pay for gas supplies has risen more than 250 per cent during the past three years, and some of this increase has been passed on to our customers.

Lone Star has been consistently able to supply our customers with natural gas. Other parts of the country are having severe problems in obtaining adequate supplies of this premium fuel, and we're working hard to prevent those problems here in our area.

In fact, the average rate in cities on the Lone Star Gas Company system in Texas ranks among the lowest general service gas rates in the country for residential and commercial customers.

These rates are based on a recent comparison by Lone Star Gas. The rate you see listed for the Lone Star Gas system is based on the average of all general service rates in the 410 incorporated cities and towns we serve in Texas, and are based on 10-thousand cubic feet of natural gas used by residential customers on June 1, 1975.

Rascals Defeat All-Stars, 24-3

The Rascals went out in a blaze of glory on Monday night as they whipped the combined talent of the other three teams by a score of 24 to 3.

I t seemed that no one could beat the little rascals! All members of the team as well as the coaches were presented with individual trophies. The inscription read "Rascals" '75.

In the Jr. High division the story was a little different.

The Spunky Spiders weren't quiet so spunky as usual and went down to defeat at the bats of the All Stars by a score of 11 to 4.

However, they were the top team for the summer and each members of the team and the coaches were presented with individual trophies with the inscription "Spunky Spiders '75."

TROPHIES ARE BEING AWARDED to the winners of the girls softball league. The Spunky Spiders and the Little Rascals finished first in league competition.

Betty Sue Chubb Claims, Summer Is Exciting

Some summers are boring, some filled with excitment and such is the case for Betty Sue Chubb. Betty Sue has kept active this summer with tennis, softball, and swimming. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Chubb of 506 E. 9 St. in Cameron.

The well-tanned athlete wil enter the seventh grade next year with a great deal of experience gained while she was in the sixth grade.

During school Betty Sue played on the O. J. Thomas tennis team as a seventh grader. The age difference didn't stop her determination to be Number One.

In 3A district competition and in the district meet at Georgetown the hard slamming sixth grader took first place in doubles competition.

Her next fete was to claim the doubles crown in the 2A district meet which was held at Caldwell. As the day ended, Betty Sue had claimed her second first-place position in district tennis.

Betty Sue also participated in the Georgetown tournament and won a first place trophy along with a trophy from the Taylor tournament.

To add variety the 12 year old decided to enter the newly created girls track program. Betty Sue made the team and participated on th girl's seventh grade track team.

This summer Betty Sue has been on the road finding competition to be tough in state-wide tournaments she has participated in.

Her first venture took her to Waco where she placed in the second round of singles play. Competition came from Dallas, Houston, San Antonio, AUSTIN, Ft. Worth, and Lubbock.

With the experience of the Waco tournament, Betty Sue worked her way to the finals in the state tournament in Killeen. The same competition was present and Betty Sue only lost to a player who is rated 11th in the state.

To add more excitement Betty Sue is the hind-catcher for the Spunky Spiders softball team who won first place in local competition.

Betty Sue said that she is ready for school to start and especially ready for her role as a true seventh grade athlete.

A new look will soon be taking shape at the Yoe High School gym. Workers are now sanding the floor and according to Buddy Dulin the floor work should be finished by next week.

Earlier in the summer contractors finished re-working the floor at OJT and painters have finished up work there also. Improvements are being conducged in all phases of the present OJT gym facilities according to Dulin.

In the midst of what should turn out to be another Yoe dynesty, remodeling of the facilities will enhance greater public support for football and basketball.

Looking over the plans for remodeling of the gym, it will be remarkable to see what can be done with the existing facility. The before picture is something to be ashamed of, but with public support, Yoe gym could be something this community could be proud of.

A winning tradition is something to be proud of and with what looks to be the greatest basketball team in AA ball the gym will bring visitors from the area to watch the "Number One" team, and I hope the people will be impressed with the progress Yoe has made in the past year.

Little League, Minor League, Ponie League, and Girls Softball league teams will advance to district play next week. The teams will be playing area teams and winners will advance to the regional an d state playoffs.

The times have not been set for the playoff games at press time but the Herald will publish the dates at a later time.

If anyone has question on the past 25 years of Yoe High football, there is one person to ask. Max Shuemate has been keeping tabs on how his alma mater has faired and the Herald will publish the composite in next week's Spotlight.

Third time wasn't charm for Billy Martin, manager of Texas Rangers, who was fired Monday. This was the third time for Martin to be released from duties of a major ball club. It seems thatMartin has an inability to get along with top management.

Martin was formerly associated with the Minnesota Twins and in '69 he went to Detroit to take over the slumping Tigers.

The Rangers do need something! When you see team mates fighting in the dug out, a revamping of the program is urgent. Martin felt that he got the bad deal; I think the season ticket holders have got the ba d deal, at least this season.

Murray-Go-Round

By Tom Murray

A UNIQUE MAN:

So much has been written about the death of Houston, Lufkin, Texas, and World-famous Morris Franke that old Morris, himself, would have had a field-day spoofing his friends for making it too big an event.

Nobody has to tell you that was the kind of man he was.

Of all of Morris' gifts, one shined brighter than all, it seems. He had a natural way of making almost every person he knew feel as if he were a very special friend. An old buddy. . .That, you and ye and a relationship that no other person could possibly invade.

And, youdid . . .

That was his charm. He did have something special, and unique with all those people. They were each his very special friend--individually, not collectively.

Thousands of "Best Friends"

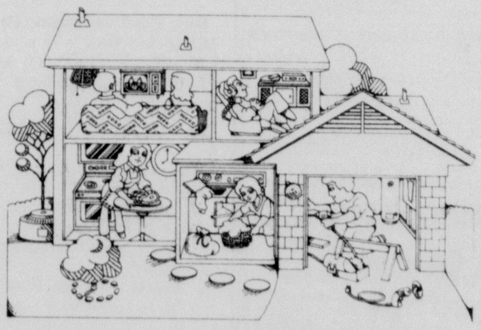
At his funeral, with all those notables present, I could not help but think about how Morris had probably struck up most of those very special relationships when they were nobodies struggling out of the masses.

As the service drew to a close, I mentioned my feelings to Hal Lundgren, of the Houston Chronicle. With a smile of his face, Hal retorted, "Exactly! I told my wife this placd would be jammed today and that every person here would be absolutely that he was one of Morris' four-or five best friends. That is the way he made you feel."

I liked what Morris' Rabbi Friend said in closing his service:

"Last night, Morris' Dear Devoted Wife Nell said, 'There's one thing certain. If there is a Heaven, Morris is there. If he is not, the rest of us are in deep trouble!"

Still a good buy... all over the house.



Did you know that the price of electricity provided by Texas Power & Light Company to the average residential customer is actually less today than it was in 1955?

It's true, and it's also true that the average customer does pay more dollars for electric service now than twenty years ago. The price is down, but the cost is up.

The reason? Well, in 1974 the average residential customer used more than six times the amount of electricity used in 1955.

How many ways have you increased your use of electricity in the past twenty years? Have you added one or more window-type air conditioning units or maybe a complete cooling and heating system? Are you enjoying the convenience of a range, dishwasher, clothes washer, dryer or other major electric appliances you didn't have in 1955?

Compare the cost of your electric service with the many comforts and conveniences it makes possible. Isn't it one of today's really good buys?

Revival Services Set At Church

Revival services have been scheduled at the First Assembly of God, 1511 North Houston, in Cameron, for July 23 through July 27. Evangelist for the meeting will be the Rev. Odell Roberts of Killeen, according to the Rev. Darryl Proffit, pastor of the congregation.

Rev. Roberts is a veteran missionary with the Assemblies of God, and recently pioneered a new church in Killeen and aided in the establishment of one in Harker Heights. He has ministered extensively throughout the southwest in evangelistic work and has served as a Bible college teacher and administrator.

He is a member of the five-man steering committee for the Waco section of the Assemblies of God. His ministry is Bible based and centered on the need for following the lead of Christ in today's world.

There will be special singing in each service. Services will begin at 7 p.m. Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday, and at 10:50 a.m. and 6 p.m. on Sunday. There will be no Saturday services. An attendant will be on duty in the air-conditioned nursery. The public is invited to attend.

Sideways Carport Can Hide Vehicle

Where your house is set back farther than is required, there may be space to erect a carport that parallels the street.

A solid western wood screen then could be placed on the street side to hide the car full length. Limit its height to two feet or so below the carport beams, to avoid a too-forbidding look.

This sideways carport blends especially well in front of a two-story house. Of course, the yard has to be wide enough to allow the vehicle to make a right-angle turn from driveway into the carport.

He is a mighty small man—almost too small to leave his footprints in the sand. But he is starting out on his own. He is exploring, seeking, learning. Where will his footsteps ultimately lead him?

There are so many courses a child may take—so many that a person of any age can follow. But it is never too late to change direction, even if it seems as if a dead end has been reached. The beauty of life is that the word itself is synonomous with hope.

If the direction your footsteps have been taking you is disappointing, then turn toward the Church. Remember, the Church has survived for centuries against odds that would have annihilated a lesser force. That in itself is reason enough to give it a chance—to see what it has to offer.
